Taylor, Anthony and Jones end guesses; announce college choices

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Glades-area residents are beaming with excitement as Fred Taylor, Reidel Anthony and Willie Jones each announced their choices for college.

At a press conference held at Glades Central in the school's media center, those in attendance knew the threesome's choices when they walked in. Fred and Reidel both sported Florida Gators baseball caps and t-shirts, while Willie showed pride in the Bulldogs in wearing a Bulldog Starter jacket.

Fred, 6'1", 219 pounds, told members of the press that he was proud to announce he would be attending the University of Florida. The Parade All-American said he had spoken to Steve Spurrier of the Gators about his decision. He went on to thank those teams that showed an interest in his athletic abilities. Fred said, "I am proud to be a Gator."

Along with his best friend and classmate, Reidel, 6'0", 170 pounds, chose University of Florida also. He also said he had spoken with Steve Spurrier and discussed his intentions of playing with the Gators. Reidel told reporters, "I am proud to have an opportunity to play with University of Florida."

South Bay Commission votes "no" to detention hall

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

The residents of South Bay do not want a juvenile hall in their community and they showed up to address the issue at the city commission meeting Tuesday night to tell why. As one long-time resident said, "We don't need that kind of competition in South Bay."

Representatives and officials from the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services addressed the South Bay Commission and the residents and told them the facility would bring nearly $12,000 revenue to the community.

Mayor Clarence Anthony said, "I want to assure the citizens that we are not going to do anything without discussing the issue with you first."

The proposed facility would house 76 serious but non-violent, repeat offenders at a former labor camp that is owned by the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida. These same barracks were used to house nearly 700 Jamaican cane cutters before the cooperative went mechanical to harvest the cane. The 41,000 square foot facility is located at the end of Southwest 10th, 11th and 12th Streets. It is also located near Rosenwald Elementary School.

The facility would be run by Eckerd Family Youth Alternatives Inc. They also run a similar facility in Okeechobee.

Ronald Stepanik of EFYA stood before the residents and the commission and told them the facility would be secured and safe for the community, however, he could not assure the crowd that escapes wouldn't occur.

"Eckerd didn't build South Bay, we did," said a longtime South Bay resident.

Residents said they had no problem with rehabilitating teens or a juvenile detention hall, but they did not want it in their community. They suggested it be located in the heart of the cane fields other than near homes.

South Bay resident Marvin Glover said, "There's got to be something we can do for our youth before it gets to the lock-up stage. Let's talk about preventive steps we can do for our children. We can find all the money in the world for incarceration but we can't find a dime for preventive methods."

Mr. Stepanik said the facility would create 40-50 full-time jobs. Residents showed concern that these jobs might not be held by residents of the community.

Greg Johnson, Palm Beach County's Juvenile Justice Manager, told commissioners if the facility was approved, EFYA would accept kids beginning April 1.

After 90 minutes of discussion, commissioners voted 5-0 against the facility in the community.

Commissioner Willie Marshall told HRS and EFYA representatives, "The citizens aren't concerned with having a facility in South Bay. Being that I work for the citizens, I am going to have to vote against the facility."

President of the Glades NAACP becomes citizen

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

It's a small piece of paper, but one that NAACP President Larry Konchellah said he is very proud to have.

Mr. Konchellah received his U.S. Citizenship papers Jan. 25, after waiting over a year for his application to be processed. A native of Kenya, East Africa, Mr. Konchellah has lived in Belle Glade for about 19 years.

"It feels different," he said. "The first thing I'm going to do is go register to vote and join the Democratic Party. Then I'm going to vote in the next election," he added.

Mr. Konchellah said he felt his lack of U.S. citizenship was not an issue when The Sun approached him about the mat-

G.C.I. and Norton Gallery form partnership to help Glades kids

A partnership program between Glades Correctional Institution and the Norton Gallery of Art has benefited children in the Glades.

Inmates from G.C.I. have built tables for art students attending classes at the Belle Glade Housing Authority's Okeechobee Center.

Dave Webb, Recreational Therapy Manager at G.C.I., said the inmates used lumber left over from projects during Hurricane Andrew to build six low tables for the children. Colorful wood cutouts decorate each table.

The institution also donated 24 chairs.

"We were glad to do it. We're always looking for worthwhile projects to keep the men busy," said Mr. Webb.

The art program, provided through a grant from the A.D. Henderson Foundation, is at four after school art sites in Belle Glade and two in the West Palm Beach area. It serves about 125 children.

Kimberly Sovinski, assistant curator of education at the Norton Gallery of Art, successfully applied for the grant and is working with the programs in Belle Glade.

The other sites are the Glades Youth Discovery Center, the After School Art Club at Lake Shore Middle School, Black Youth Enrichment Association, better known as Neighborhood Buddies.

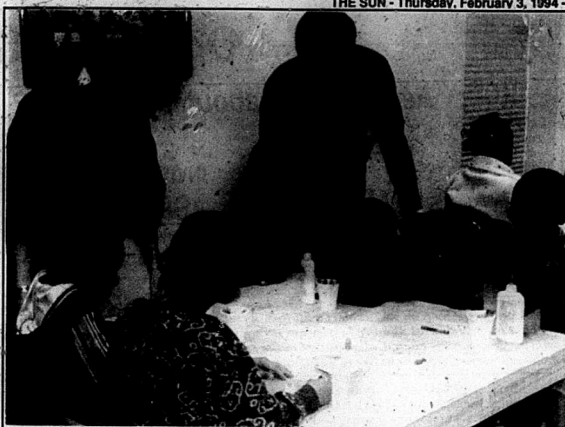

The program at Okeechobee Center is for children ages 5 to 10 who are interested in art. "There's so much emphasis on sports," said Ms. Sovinski. "Art's the first to be cut in school."

By giving the children a chance to be creative, it increases their self-esteem," she said.

The Neighborhood Buddies group, which is geared toward teenagers, is working on a project to paint a mural on the Belle Glade Municipal Library. That group is taught by Lester Finney.

Ms. Sovinski said she was happy to see the programs implemented in the Glades because as curator of education at the Norton, she has seen groups of students from the Glades on the tour. "The kids were very well-behaved and seemed so interested," she said.

Inmates at Glades Correctional Institution built small tables for the children in this after school art program at Okeechobee Center to enjoy. tions and I care," he said at that time.

Sworn in in Miami with about 5,000 other people last week at the Miami Beach Convention Center, Mr. Konchellah said it was a moving moment for him.

To become a U.S. citizen, he had to pay a fee and pass a test on American Government and history. "I got a 100 on the test," he said.

Mr. Konchellah has been the president of the Glades Branch of the NAACP for two years. He has been the president of the Katherine Price Foundation for three years. The Foundation helps needy travelers who break down and need a place to stay for the night or need financial assistance to get where they are going.

In addition to his volunteer work, Mr. Konchellah owns and operates an import/export business called African Connections. He travels frequently to east Africa to visit his mother and siblings. He said he also frequently visits school classrooms and shares his knowledge of the African heritage.

As the president of the NAACP, he said he receives about nine or 10 complaints each month. "About two-thirds of those are legitimate complaints and we investigate," he said. Anyone calling about discrimination must put their concern in writing and sign their name.

Mr. Konchellah said the Glades Branch of the NAACP

Caller votes for Christmas

I have never spoken out before, but this time I must. I think there is nothing wrong with the word Christmas. I am sure residents of Belle Glade like getting a paid holiday off or double time or triple time if they get stuck working on that day known as Christmas! Christmas is a traditional as July 4th and Thanksgiving!

Another tradition is voting. Hey, let's vote on whether the city, which "chose to wish all residents and visitors Happy Holidays and Season's Greetings..." should continue being paid for Christmas.

Is there a second motion out there?

More on the same

Interesting comment from City Manager Harrelle in his response to a letter named "Put Christ-back in Christmas" by a group of residents. I also noticed that Steve Weeks answer was not printed. I guess there wasn't enough space. My comment is one based on logic.

It seems to me that Christmas is a federal holiday which the city observes by giving paid time off in its honor and closing city hall. Matter of fact since it fell on Saturday, they honored it by having another work day off paid at taxpayer's expense, just like the rest of the administrative and legislative branches of the United States government, its states, and their cities. Other paid holidays are Thanksgiving, Martin Luther King, Independence, Memorial, and Veteran's Day, just to name a few.

It seems through Mr. Harrelle's comments that the city intentionally snuffed a group of religious belief since the word Christ is spelled like the root word of Christ-mas. Mr. Harrelle and his staff "chose" not to use the legal holiday name in decorations.

Interesting!! If the city doesn't want to offend, the city should either use the legal holiday name without fear like Martin Luther King

Day and Independence Day or just should not acknowledge the holiday by having paid time off of closing city offices.

I must commend Mr. Harrelle on his political savvy, but the smoke screen may not hold water this time. I must also commend those who have chosen to Speak Out!

Signed: Just call me Mr. Logic

P.S. Merry Christmas, Happy New Year, Thanksgiving, etc. Get the drift?

Editor's note: Mayor Steve Weeks was not asked to comment on this issue. The original caller asked Mr. Harrelle on Mayor Weeks to respond. Mr. Weeks was in an all-day governmental meeting the day we tried to reach him, so we then asked Mr. Harrelle to respond. We believe we have provided a fair chance for both sides to be heard on this issue. Recent calls have been repetitive. We are inclined to print no calls on this subject in the future, unless someone has something fundamentally different to say on the subject.

Ice plant will create traffic hazard

This is a concerned citizen.

If you build the ice plant out on South Main Street, have you thought about the traffic, the tie-ups in and out of Main Street?

Many people use that road to travel back and forth to work every day and school children are on that road. It's like coming and going out of Winn Dixie. There's traffic tie-ups there all the time. I'm not for the ice plant and I'm not for the bowling alley, I'm just concerned about the lives of the people.

I'm also worried about the truck drivers and the way they drive around here, in and out of traffic. They take chances all the time and they are putting a lot of people's lives in danger. And that section of town would be a very bad place to put the ice plant.

Thank the many angels and advertisers for their continued support. I would also like to encourage citizens of the four surrounding communities to consider membership in this organization... all ages are welcome. We are a family that works and plays together; many of our children have been brought up on the stage.

A.C.T. needs carpenters, artists, painters, typists, musicians, actors, singers, dancers and promoters... It is a wonderful way to meet new people and to contribute something cultural to one's community.

Anyone interested in joining A.C.T. should contact Michael Logsdon in Belle Glade; Billy Abernathy in Pahokee or Kaye Lasagna in Clewiston at the John B. Boy Auditorium at 2 p.m.

Thank you:

Studying fat-to-muscle ratio is a better way to determine health

By JoAnne Cole
University of Florida News

People who are concerned about fitness often use a scale to determine how healthy they are, but a better method may be testing the body's composition of fat and muscle, according to a study by the University of Florida Center for Exercise and Sport Sciences.

The study uses several methods of testing a person's amount of fat and muscle to determine body composition, or true weight. Center Director Mike Pollock said the tests may give people a better idea of how fit they are.

People don't realize just by looking at body weight they could be losing muscle and gaining fat, and their weight may stay the same," Mr. Pollock said.

The study may also dispel the myths that equate body weight with fitness, he said.

"There were situations with professional athletes who were way overweight and had contract problems," Mr. Pollock said. "But when they were actually tested in body composition, their weight was due to muscle, not fat."

Some of the methods used in the study include the skin fold test, in which special tools are used to "pinch" skin in the arms, legs and torso to test the percentage of fat. Ultrasound tests are used to actually see the amount of fat on the body, and hydrostatic weighing determines the weight of fat-free mass by weighing the body under water.

Mr. Pollock said some methods such as the skin fold test are not expensive and can be used in health clubs and be more practical than just hopping on the scale.

"There is no question that exercise helps increase muscle mass, and if you are losing fat, to oppose that, your body weight may not change much," he said.

Another advantage is that body composition can be tested less often than body weight and still give an accurate picture of fitness.

"You should be tested for body composition only once a year unless there is a major change in lifestyle, such as a diet or new exercise program," Mr. Pollock said. "Then you should be checked every three to six months."

Study subject Doug Dankel said the body composition tests are more thorough and give him a more accurate view of his progress than scales.

"Even though I would like to lose some more weight, I come in and find out that my body fat is decreasing," Mr. Dankel said. "Then I know that I'm making the gains I need to make."

Mr. Pollock said body composition tests are individualized and take the whole body into account, which may help people set their own fitness goals instead of being swayed by charts and standards.

Tax watch...

Senator Connie Mack ranks highest in senate on spending cuts

United States Senator Connie Mack (R-FL) proposed more spending cuts last year than any other senator, according to a survey by a government spending watchdog group.

In a study released today by the National Taxpayers Union, legislation that Sen. Mack sponsored or co-sponsored in 1993 calculated together would cut a total of $73.5 million in federal spending, the highest amount in the Senate.

"My constituents are calling for spending cuts first," Sen. Mack said. "I campaigned on the issue of less spending and I'm doing my best to deep that promise."

"There's a tremendous amount of pressure on Congress by the Administration and interest groups to significantly increase spending.

It's crucial for the American people to continue pressing Congress to make spending cuts first."

Sen. Mack has proposed legislation to cut $65 billion a year in spending through a Spending Reduction Commission. A bi-partisan panel would provide Congress with a list of spending cuts for an up-or-down vote without any amendments.

The commission would be convened if Congress failed to cut spending by $65 billion a year. Sen. Mack said the outside constraints are essential.

"It's a tragedy Congress and the Administration can't cut spending first, but it's reality we must face by reinventing the system," he said.

In an endorsement July 13, the National Taxpayers Union said Sen. Mack's spending cuts commission "could help break the iron triangle that protects wasteful and outdated spending" and "would help Congress and the Executive Branch establish priorities and trim spending."

The NTU's spending cuts total for Sen. Mack could have been higher. Sen. Mack attempted last year to ban taxpayer-paid mass newsletter mailings, known as franked mail, in the Senate. His proposal, which would have saved $20 million this year, came within one vote of passage. Since Sen. Mack's anti-franking proposal was an amendment and not an original bill, it was not counted in NTU's survey.

Sen. Mack returned some $550,000 to the Treasury after he eliminated mass newsletter mailings from his office.

A.C. T. Theatre group to put on comedy Feb. 25

It's a case of mistaken identity which leads to amorous interludes, marital strife and incredible fun as the cast of A.C.T.'s "Lend Me A Tenor" prepare for opening night Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. at the John B. Boy Auditorium in Clewiston.

Director Susan Helton first became acquainted with the hilarious comedy at the Jupiter Theatre. Mrs. Helton said, "I laughed until I cried."

The show focuses around an Italian opera singer who passes out in his hotel suite prior to an important gala. He is replaced by a talented but unknown young man dressed in the guise of the great Othello. The result is not only a successful performance but a jealous wife, an amorous

"groupie", a hysterical producer and a "generous" socialite who all become uproariously intertwined.

Cast members for this show include Tom Mack as the great Tito Merelli and Sandy Cook as his jealous Italian wife; Michael McCarthy as Max, and Pat Machin as his boss. Vicki Irving portrays the naive but beautiful Maggie, Saunder's daughter; and her mother, Margaret Irving, makes her debut on stage as the staunch socialite, Julia. David Cook plays the interfering bellhop while Kaye Lasagna plays the ambitious starlett.

Mrs. Helton and her assistant director, Johanna Huss, are excited about their first efforts at directing. They say they are pleased with their cast and the rehearsal progress thus far.

"Ms. Huss said, "This is one show where the rehearsals are as much fun for the cast as the show will be for the audience.

CRUSADER

Homecoming was wonderful! We won all of our games. As everyone cheered, the elegant and beautiful homecoming court paraded before the exuberant Crusader fans that filled the stands. Our previous homecoming queen, Lisa Glass, crowned our new reigning queen, Lori de la Cerda. Congratulations Lori!

Recently our faculty added a new teacher to the staff. An alumna of Pennsylvania State University and a first-time teacher, Mrs. Pacchioli teaches Bible, World History, English and Mathematics. Mrs. Pacchioli is already an avid fan of the Lady Crusaders basketball team.

Not long ago, students received their report cards. We would like to recognize and congratulate those who made the second nine weeks' honor roll.

Glades Day's chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes held their January meeting last week and made plans for the next few months, among them a membership drive for the National Fellowship of Christian ## Athletes.

Anyone interested in becoming a national member of the FCA may see the sponsor, Rita Schoenfeld, in the high school office. You do not have to be an athlete to apply.

Other activities planned are having lunches during Advent and attending the Passion Play in Lake Wales.

"We've also been discussing a service project," said Mrs. Schoenfeld. "Some of the members suggested taking part in the Harvest for Families, where farmers let us go in their field after they have been harvested and glean the rest of the crop for needy families in the area."

Elementary students in K5

and first grades took a field trip to the Kravis Center to see "Curious George" this past Tuesday. It was an opportunity for the little ones to dress up and attend the performing arts center. Bet they were wide-eyed at all the sights!

The varsity girls' basketball team learned a few things about basketball at the college level when they travelled to the University of Florida to watch the Lady Gators play on Jan. 25. The girls, along with Coach Dick Schmidt, were taken on a personal tour of the campus, including the football field and O'Connell Center, after the game.

GDS students will be able to "say it with a carnation" on Valentine's Day, thanks to the sophomore class. The 10th graders are taking orders for these Valentine messages to be sent with a flower to their favorite friend (teacher). The annual fundraiser is a popular one among the students and also a good way to get the sophomores started on their budget for the junior/senior prom. (By tradition, the junior class sponsors the prom.)

If you have nothing to do this Saturday evening, plan to come to Glades Day for the Little Mr. and Miss GDS sponsored by the elementary. The pageant begins at 6 p.m. and will feature up to 50 little boys and girls in grades K3-K5 vying for the 1994 title.

Rosenwald students compete in school-wide spelling bee

Tammy Jackson

Staff Reporter

In an hour-long Spelling Bee, Latierria Easley won the honors of representing Rosenwald Elementary in the county spelling bee to be held March 17 at the West Palm Beach Holiday Inn.

The 1994 Spelling Bee saw fourth- and fifth graders exhibiting spelling skills and knowledge of spelling what they heard pronounced.

Jeanette Dexter served as the pronouncer for the bee. She made an effort to pronounce the words to the contestants in a fashion they would understand what they were spelling. In cases where contestants needed definitions for the words they were to spell, there were teachers and faculty members standing by with dictionaries.

Mattie Walker, fifth grade teacher, organized the bee. She received anonymously donated gifts that were presented to the winners.

Latierria won the bee by spelling the word "culprit" correctly.

The winner of the first round was Anthony Gibson, fifth grader.

Carlotta Hensing, fifth grader, was the winner of the second and third rounds.

Latierria was the winner of the fourth round.

Carlotta won the first place position in the competition, and Alvin Johnson was the third place winner.

Also competing in the bee were Jennifer Bolen, Maribel Ibasca, Samori Ingram, Melissa Johnson, Freddy Mendoza, Maria Muñiz, Joseph Chapple, Roberto Garza, Ternesha Greenfield, Shawnta Mann and Juan Mireles.

Glade View to celebrate 100 days of school

Eagles Soar 100 Days is the theme for the one hundred-day celebration at Glade View School on Friday, Feb. 4. Students have been participating in the program Every Day Counts as part of the new math series that was implemented this year in Palm Beach County.

be held in the cafeteria on Friday at 9, 10 and 11 a.m. A chorus of exactly 100 students will perform. Certificates will be presented to those students who have attended school all 100 days this year.

Parents are also invited to stop by the media center to see displays of "Collections of 100" that have been assembled by classrooms and individual students.

Friday will also be "Wear Your Uniform Day" at Glade View for students and staff.

South Bay City Manager working to improve city and tax base

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Known as the "crossroads" city, South Bay seems to be out of its slump and looking at bigger and brighter things to happen for the city and its residents. After being awarded numerous grants, South Bay citizens can be proud to know their city manager is looking out for the best interest of the city.

Lester Baird joined the City of South Bay three-and one-half years ago as the city manager and according to Mr. Baird, "I enjoy my work. It is very challenging, rewarding and interesting."

Within a year's time, Mr. Baird worked on numerous grants. Because of his dedication, determination and distinction in grant writing, the City of South Bay was awarded close to $5 million in funding.

With assistance from South Bay Police Chief Roy

Humston, Mr. Baird wrote, submitted and was awarded a $130,523 grant for the police department. The money, to be used over a three-year period, was used to hire two new police officers recently.

The city also received a $1,750 grant that will enable the city to make and distribute a brochure and poster of the city. According to Mr. Baird, the grant will enable the city to display its economic development.

A $237,200 Florida Communities Grant was also awarded to the city. The grant will enable the city to purchase a 26-acre parcel of land that is presently owned by the State of Florida. Located on the north end of South Bay, the land is designed to be a natural, open-space type park. South Bay Commissioners are proposing that a 140-unit single family affordable housing subdivision be built next to the land.

According to Mr. Baird, the city was also awarded a $26,000 grant, and they also received a $465,000 loan. The monies will be used to help in the purchase of the land and the infrastructure development of the Brady Property.

With a tremendous need for youth activities in the city, Mr. Baird said the city receives a grant from the Childrens Services Council that funds a summer program for the youths. The program is held at Tanner Park and it provides games, sports activities, videos, field trips and nutritious lunches for each child. Mr. Baird said the summer program is great but the city is in need of a year-round program. Although the city has been unsuccessful in receiving funding for the venture, Mr. Baird said it is continuing to be very progressive and innovative.

With the many responsibilities of the city manager, Mr. Baird contributes much of his success to the commissioners and Clarence Anthony, the Mayor of South Bay. Mr. Baird said he must always make himself accessible to the mayor and the commissioners. He said the unique thing about the city officials is "we're willing to try new ideas and make them happen."

Mr. Baird also spends a lot of time attending and representing South Bay at different meetings and workshops. "South Bay is an enjoyable place to work. I do lots of work that other managers are unable to do. The mayor and the commissioners are so helpful, supportive and positive," Mr. Baird said.

According to Mr. Baird, he is planning in-service training sessions for staff members. These meetings will discuss customer service, safety on the job, and any other employee/employer situation. The city recently mailed out a city newsletter to the residents. The newsletter will serve as a communication tool to and for the residents in hopes they will learn, know and understand what is going on in the city.

Commissioner Michael Jackson said, "Lester is doing a tremendous job in securing funds for the city. I feel he must be praised for his grant-writing ability. Because of his knowledge, we're (other commissioners and residents) very excited about the city."

Comm. Jackson also said the city has done many things but there is still a lot that needs to be done. He said, "If we can secure more funds from the Community Development Block Grant to prepare roads, we will."

"Mr. Baird is a great city manager," said Commissioner Basil Anderson. "He's very positive in his approach of running the city. Comm. Anderson said he is very excited about the Brady Property. "If we can get this going, it will improve the city's tax base thus attracting economic development."

Mr. Baird has been a resident of Belle Glade since 1989 having relocated to the area from Missouri. He has held positions as department head of Parks and Recreation Community Development, town manager and city administrator.

He is married to Patricia Harrington, program manager for HRS HIV Prevention Center, Belle Glade. They have two sons: Jeffrey Harrington, an FAU student; Lester Baird Jr., 26; Brian Baird, 24; and Patrick Baird, 19. His hobbies include basketball, football, baseball and reading.

Having a manager as dedicated as Mr. Baird, South Bay has to be positive that, according to County Commissioner Ken Foster, "South Bay has had several tough times and I feel it is coming back."

Grants announced to help preserve history throughout Florida

Matching grants of more than $80,000 will be awarded to 53 historic preservation projects throughout Florida including $40,000 for the Emanuel Point shipwreck in Pensacola, Secretary of State Jim Smith recently announced.

The projects receiving matching grant assistance (funds that must be matched by cash or in-kind and donated services) include three historic preservation education projects, 18 projects for survey and planning activities for historic structures or archeological sites, 22 projects to assist the restoration or rehabilitation of historic projects was given a non-matching grant and three Main Street cities will also receive non-matching assistance.

Six matching grants totaling $52,670 were awarded to Certified Local Governments (CLG) projects for the city. The CLG program is designed to increase the participation of eligible certified, local governments must meet certain criteria, including passing a local preservation ordinance and establishing a preservation commission.

Non-matching grants totaling $55,000 will fund the development of model design guidelines for Florida communities and start-up activities for the new Main Street cities of Eustis, Homestead and Sanford. The Florida Main Street program, through which historic downtown districts in 32 cities are being rehabilitated, has produced an economic bonanza since it began in 1985. More than 1,700 rehabilitation and new construction projects have been completed with a total local reinvestment of $167 million while costing the state less than $2 million. In addition, the program has assisted 760 business starts and expansions resulting in the creation of more than 2,600 new jobs.

Secretary of State Smith based his decisions on the recommendations of the Historic Preservation Advisory Council, a 12-member citizens advisory group appointed by the Secretary of State.

Thoroughly Checked - Ask About Warranties

Glades Day School's Boys Varsity Basketball Team is made up of individuals who know that a good hustle, skill and determination is what it takes to win a game.

Signing

Willie, 6'7", 308 pounds, opted to accept the football scholarship from University of Georgia. Willie thanked all the schools that showed an interest in him. He said, "I am proud to be a Bulldog."

The grandson of Rosetta Lusane, Fred Taylor, a Belle Glade teen, said he chose University of Florida because Gainesville was a nice community and he enjoyed the campus life.

He said there were others from Glades Central that went to UF and he wanted to follow them. Fred said he will play the tailback position.

"My grandmother said to choose whichever college I wanted to. Do what's best for me because I have to live with it for the next four years," Fred said. Fred said he is motivated by his grandmother and himself.

Running a 4.28 in the 40-yard dash, Fred was named Reebok All-American, USA Today All-American, Super Prep All-American and Parade All-American.

Playing football since he was in the fifth grade, Fred said he eventually wants to play professional football.

With his favorite subject being math, Fred said he plans to major in recreation.

Reidel said he chose UF because, "I always wanted to go there."

He said he will play the positions of receiver and returner.

A member of the football and track teams, Reidel said, "My mother and father said it was up to me. They talked to most of the coaches. The coaching staff was nice to me too."

Undecided on what he plans to major in, Reidel has been playing football since he was in the fifth grade.

"My motivation is my uncle, John Ford," said Reidel. "He went to college on a football scholarship. He was drafted in the second round by the Detroit Lions."

Reidel was named a Super Prep All-American, and he received Honorable Mention in the USA Today poll. He runs a 4.3 in the 40 yard dash.

The South Bay teen is the son of Clarence Anthony and Kathleen Collie.

Willie said he was very pleased with the program at University of Georgia. He said he chose the facility because he liked it and he received a warm reception from the players.

Undecided about his major, Willie also visited Ohio State University and University of Central Florida.

Willie runs a 5.2 in the 40 yard dash.

"I am motivated by my mother," said Willie, "because she always believed in me when everybody else doubted me."

Looking forward to one day playing in the professional ranks, Willie's hobbies include swimming, basketball, football and baseball.

Playing football for 4 years, Willie is the son of Evelyn Hill of Belle Glade.

According to Lavise Smith, Glades Central Community High School Senior Guidance Counselor, the young men started receiving letters from different colleges near the end of their junior year in high school. "This is when they really start recognizing the athletes," she said.

Ms. Smith said throughout the summer, the kids continue receiving letters from the colleges. She said, "Fred received anywhere from 80-100 letters from different colleges."

Mrs. Smith said she advises her students to make choices of the schools they are seriously interested in. Once the students make those choices, the guidance department then communicates with the schools. She said she sends grades, comments and any other information the schools use to recruit students.

Former Pahokee football player signs with Canadian Football League

Pahokee High, Florida State University, now Saskatchewan Roughriders

Former Florida State University strong safety John Davis will join the ranks of professional football after signing a contract with the Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Canadian Football League on Jan. 24.

"The fact that John had the initiative to stay in shape, keep studying and graduates a lot about who he is as a person," said Doug Andreous of Team One Sports Management, Mr. Davis' agent. "He uses that same kind of determination when he plays football."

Mr. Andreous said Mr. Davis has spent time working on speed and agility with Coach Tom Shaw in order to maintain and enhance his skills on the field.

Mr. Davis, whose last year of eligibility ended following the 1993 Orange Bowl, will graduate from FSU after the current semester ends in April and report to camp in June.

While at FSU, Mr. Davis lettered all four years and earned honors as a free safety in his sophomore year.

He tallied four interceptions and 52 tackles that year and was voted Most Improved Defensive Back.

He started for the Seminoles in both his junior and senior years and was named the team captain his final season at FSU. In 1989, he was one of only two true freshmen starters to play defense for the Seminoles.

Mr. Davis' career as a Seminole was highlighted by trips to Japan, Hula and Orange Bowls in his senior year; the Cotton Bowl as a junior; Cottonbuxter in his sophomore year; and a Fiesta Bowl appearance as a freshman where he blocked one punt against the University of Nebraska.

Former Seminole Stan Shiver, who not only coached Mr. Davis but played the same position, said Mr. Davis' concentration and determination on the field are a big part of his success.

"He loves the physical part of the game," Mr. Shiver said. "He's got this pent-up energy that can only be released through physical contact. He's a ball player."

Teammate Felix Harris

agrees. "He's got the stuff of a Ronnie Lott or a Steve Atwater," Mr. Harris said.

Born and raised in Pahokee, Mr. Davis played free safety and strong safety during his high school career at Pahokee High School. He was ranked the number one safety in the nation in 1989 by USA Today.

The Saskatchewan Roughriders are based in Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada and are a part of the Canadian Football League. The Roughriders' best finish in recent years came in 1989 when they won the Grey Cup Championship.

The Canadian Football League currently has nine teams, including one in Sacramento, Calif., and another in Las Vegas, Nev.

The league is looking at possible expansion to Baltimore and Orlando.

The Lady Gators Basketball team hit the court with determination. The girls work hard in practice and equally hard during a game.

MIGRAINE

Also called sick headaches, a typical migraine attack begins with a dull throbbing ache in one area of the head and progresses to a piercing pain. These tortuous attacks may be preceded by a change in the field of vision - a flickering before the eyes, flashes of light or a partial blocking of the vision. They are sometimes accompanied by nausea or vomiting. They are seldom relieved by aspirin. Their duration is from 2 to 48 hours.

Association requests accelerated schedule on Mexico's tariffs

The Rice Miller's Association (RMA) has requested an accelerated schedule for duty elimination on Mexico's tariffs applicable to rice. Under the NAFTA agreement, accelerated tariff elimination of dutiable commodities traded between Mexico and the United States may be accepted if there is agreement by both parties. The U.S. government has stated it will give special priority to requesting the acceleration of tariff on products where the Mexican tariff is substantially higher than the U.S. tariff.

"Rice is a clear example of such a situation," said RMA President David Graves. "I believe there is ample justification for consideration of the request for accelerated tariff reduction because rice tariffs in Mexico are substantially higher than those of the United States and represent the most significant impediment to growth of the U.S. share of Mexico's market for imported rice," added Mr. Graves. Mexico's tariffs on rice are in the range of 250-400 percent higher than equivalent U.S. tariffs. RMA has been a strong supporter of NAFTA, believing the liberalization of trade between the U.S. and Mexico will greatly enhance commerce and profitability for both countries. RMA analysis indicates immediate reduction of Mexico's tariffs on rice would double the U.S. rice industry's export volume to Mexico, already one of the industry's largest markets, and generate significant savings to Mexico's exporters, distributors and consumers. Under current NAFTA provisions, all rice tariffs between Mexico and the United States will be eliminated over a 10-year phase-out, which began Jan. 1, 1984.

RMA is the national trade association of the U.S. rice milling industry. Association membership includes 27 milling companies and 27 firms engaged in a variety of industry activities including exporting, trading, merchandising, warehousing, food manufacturing, packaging, inspection, transportation and others. U.S. rice production, handling and marketing activities generate about $3 billion in commerce annually, with almost one-half derived from exporting.

Foundation offers self-help scholarship

High school or community college students who are interested in attending Florida State University, the University of Florida or Bethune-Cookman College, but lack the funds to do so, are encouraged to contact the Southern Scholarship Foundation.

The foundation awards scholarships to capable, motivated and financially-needy students. A scholarship recipient is offered the opportunity to live rent-free in one of the foundation's 20 scholarship houses.

Founded in 1949, the Southern Scholarship Foundation is a non-profit organization dedicated to helping worthy students attend college. Over the years, nearly 6,000 students have benefited from the foundation's self-help scholarship program thanks to the generous support it receives from individuals, corporations, civic groups and other charitable foundations.

According to foundation president Joe Mizereck, "We offer deserving students much more than a scholarship when they live in our houses. We offer an exceptional opportunity for a meaningful college experience through our cooperative living program where they gain valuable lessons in life. Lessons that mold character and help students become better prepared to assume the responsibilities of their adult lives."

In addition to rent-free housing, a student's financial burden is further reduced by participating in the foundation's self-help cooperative living program where students pool their money to cover expenses for food and utilities. During the 1984-85 academic year, the financial burden for each of the foundation's 344 students will be reduced by approximately $4,000 by living in a scholarship house.

"The foundation's self-help program, where students are expected to assume and share responsibilities for household chores and maintain good grades, is not right for all students," according to Mr. Mizereck, "but, it is the ideal place for many."

Mr. Mizereck adds, "We are looking for young people of high moral character who would either not be able to attend college or would experience a major financial struggle while attending college without the help of the foundation."

While the foundation accepts applications throughout the year, the deadline for the Fall 1984 semester is March 1, 1984. Also, students currently enrolled at FSU, UF and BCC who are experiencing financial difficulties may apply.

Interested students should request an application by writing to Southern Scholarship Foundation, 322 Stadium Drive, Tallahassee, FL 32304. The telephone number is (800) 253-2769.

PBCC receives donation from Motorola

The Motorola Corporation of Boynton Beach recently presented the PBCC with a donation of $9,000. Palm Beach Community College for the endowment of a teaching chair. PBCC President Edward M. Eissey accepted the donation on behalf of the college.

The donation represents the first payment of a gift that will total $75,000.

Motorola's share of the gift will be $45,000 and the State of Florida will match that with $30,000 as part of the Endowed Faculty Chair Program.

As of this date, the academic area for the chair has been determined, but it will be presented to a faculty member who fulfills the requirements established by the academic vice president's advisory council.

Endowed through personal and corporate donations, PBCC's Endowed Teaching Chair program was first conceptualized in 1988 to recognize faculty for outstanding professional achievements and service. Since that time, donations have been secured which are now accruing the income necessary to fund the program.

Presently, five endowed chairs exist at PBCC. These include the SunFest

Endowed Chair, Glades Camp, Endowed Chair, Barnett Bank Endowed Chair, George and Wilma Elmore Chair of Business Administration, and the Edward M. Eissey Chair.

Businesses or individuals who are interested in endowing a chair at PBCC are asked to contact the PBCC Foundation, 439-8072.

Log

By Alexa Lutz

Three students in Sonja Lutz's Advanced Placement English class were recently named as Glades Central's PRIDE writers. Pride stands for Program Recognizing Initiative and Distinction in Education. All three students have written short stories, poetry and essays during the current school year. Sharon Rickett's portfolio was selected to write for the county PRIDE writing competition.

Miss Rickett's, daughter of Gloria Jean Rickett's of South Bay, was recently named a semi-finalist in the Coca Cola scholarship competition. In order to complete her final application, she had to write an essay on a moment in history which is significant to her. Choosing the 19th amendment, which gave women the right to vote, Miss Rickett emphasized the progress women have made since acquiring this right. Now all that's left is to see if she is named the winner in the competition.

Speaking of winners' in national competitions, Eric

Watson, a student of LeRoy Williams, recently won Ocean Pal's contest. The theme was "Protect Our Reef."

Eric received first place in the state. He will know be in the national contest.

Alexa Lutz, social-studies student of Desmond Mahon, will attend Florida Closeup on Feb. 13-16.

In this conference, students will learn first-hand how the government works. Issues such as how the governor and state cabinet affects the government, the tight state budget, the state lottery and funding of education and service taxes will be addressed. In addition, senators and representatives will be on hand to talk to students about issues which concern them.

Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission implementing new rules

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has directed its staff to prepare hunting and fishing rule change proposals for final action in March.

The commission met at its Tallahassee headquarters recently and heard staff reports and recommendations concerning proposals to establish a five-inch minimum antler length for deer to be taken during hunting seasons, excluding archery season when antlerless deer still would be legal game.

Other proposed regulations would extend the three-day muzzleloading gun hunting season by six days in the south and central regions and would prohibit taking of antlerless deer on most wildlife management areas during archery season in the Everglades Region.

Concerning fisheries, the commission staff will draft regulation proposals to: authorize bow-fishing at night in the Northwest Region for non-game fish except catfish; remove the special 13-inch minimum size limit for black bass taken in the Escambia River; establish a six-catfish daily bag limit for fish management areas where the commission stocks catfish; and provide two weigh-in options for permitted bass tournament anglers during June, July and August. One option would be to conduct one weigh-in by 3 p.m., and the other would allow multiple weigh-ins, not more than six hours apart, permits are required for all tournaments with more than 100 participants, and for tournaments with 20-99 participants that temporarily want to allow anglers to retain more than one bass over 22 inches until weigh-in, followed by releasing all of their bass.

In other business, the Commission approved staff recommendations concerning new ways of raising revenue to meet the agency's projected $4.6 million funding shortage for fiscal year 1994-95.

Proposals approved by the commission include:

• Establishment of a wildlife management area stamp for persons who use certain Type I wildlife management areas

(the ones that are state owned and primarily managed by the commission) for fishing, frogging and possibly other pursuits.

• Increased subscription rates for Florida Wildlife magazine from $7 to $10 per one-year subscription and similar increases for two-year and three-year subscriptions, and

• Increased fees for attending the commission's conservation youth camps from $100 per week to $135 per week.

In addition, the commission directed its staff to seek the Florida Legislature's authorization to: sell publications to help recoup expenses; establish a $5 three-day nonresident freshwater fishing license; and begin charging for permits that currently are free such as antlerless deer, falconry ad wildlife rehabilitation permits.

Another proposal to explore the prospect of creating a largemouth bass license plate for motor vehicles, boat trailers and other tagged devices also won a favorable nod from the Commission. Staff will now begin meeting with conservation groups to gauge interest in the idea.

The five-member commission selected Dr. Quinton Hedgepeth to replace J. Ben Rowe as chairman for the coming year. Julie Morris is the new vice chairman, replacing Dr. Hedgepeth in that post.

Commission set aside time for Sen. George Kirkpatrick to award a recognition plaque to Commission Artist Peggy Perkerson for her design and talent in producing the new Florida Panther license tag, which now is the fastest selling specialty tag in Florida.

The next commission meeting is scheduled for March 11 in Tallahassee. A commission workshop will take place the preceding day.
